This image was gotten on Friday, April 4th from a website called COSMOS. It fit the description of one the services provided by RolsaTech , "Smart Home energy systems"

I also chose this due to its simplistic nature. It is used in the website to serve as an advertisement hint to the services provided

This is another image gotten from COSMOS, Cosmos provides free images that are copyright free, This image was gotten on March 28.

The image represents an electric car getting charged at a station. I was prompted to select this picture as the specification also said that Rolsa technologies provide EV Charging stations.

The icon above was gotten from an open-source framework called Bootstrap at <https://icons.getbootstrap.com/icons/arrow-right/> . The icon was used to add interactive features to the homepage upon hover. Bootstrap icons were chosen because of their minimalistic design.
